CHRISTINE THORN, CONNECTICUT'S KONMARI CONSULTANT

Christine Thorn of Wolcott, Connecticut's first certified KonMari consultant, shares the benefits of the KonMari Method™ of tidying and decluttering with clients across the state and beyond through her venture Sage of Interiors, LLC, as well as giving talks on Marie Kondo's life-changing philosophy at venues including libraries, residential communities, and professional and academic settings.

Inspired by Kondo's best-selling book, "The Life-Changing Magic of Tidying Up," Thorn studied with Kondo and her team in New York City, became certified, and has performed the required level of transformative consultations to achieve the Certified Bronze level.

Thorn creates living spaces of comfort and serenity through the KonMari Method's category-by-category system of tidying—guiding clients in a tidying journey toward keeping things that nourish the soul, while discarding the rest, and producing lasting results in the process. This professional decluttering and organizing becomes the foundation for a simpler, more enriching, mindful, introspective and forward-looking life.

At the center of it all is a fundamental question:

Does this spark joy?

The KonMari philosophy is now a worldwide phenomenon thanks to Kondo's Netflix series, "Tidying Up With Marie Kondo."
